![SummIT Business Technologies logo]

CLIENT

LEXINGTON NATIONAL
INSURANCE CORPORATION

The Challenge

The Bond business is challenging! It requires transparency to several agencies, accurate reporting and accounting of monies reported and collected. Lexington must track all bail and immigration bonds that are written through their internal staff, as well as the hundreds of bail producers that use their services. Each bail bond must adhere to strict guidelines for paperwork, defendant handling, and reporting. Lexington must provide highly accurate and detailed reporting to both state and federal agencies in a timely manner.

The challenge was that for years, each bail producer used whatever they had available to write and track their bonds. Stacks of paper were then snail-mailed to Lexington who had to comb through the paper in order to produce reports. Eventually, a system was deployed with each bail producer that fed into in-house software, but that still was time consuming to sort through, and had a high potential for errors. We needed to find a way to make this process cohesive with a focus on the accuracy of reporting.

The Solution

Summit's App Development Team heard the requirements and got to work, writing Lexington's current software, a web-based Bail Management application. This software manages and tracks every step of multiple processes. Bail Producers can access and use the system to write bonds, track defendants, and produce interim level reporting. Each level of activity is performed directly in a singular application, so there is no latency or delay in reporting and tracking bonds. This custom application took all steps of a complicated and time consuming process and combined it all into one application that does it all, and can be accessed on the web by all.

The Results

TThe software handles thousands of transactions each day and produces the necessary reporting and quality checkpoints that Lexington depends on to run their business.

"Service is what they promised…and at Summit, they deliver on that promise every day. I'd recommend them to anyone looking for stability and success in advancing their business's technology tools."

- Lexington National Insurance Corp

Summit Business Technologies

443.795.5112 | info@summitbiztech.com

[LinkedIn] [Facebook] [Twitter]

Summit Business Technologies App Development Team helps businesses simplify business challenges with technology. Summit partners with organizations throughout MD, DC, and VA as specialists in the areas of Application Development, Cybersecurity, Compliance, and Managed IT Services.

www.SummitBizTech.com